

Relationship Rehab Show

Episode 49: Keys to a Successful Stepfamily

Interview With Kim and James

Kim and James did so many things well. This will be a place to record notes about things that inspire you and motivate you to duplicate some of their best practices!

James, what was the quality of your relationship with your Ex to begin with? And what choices did you make that eventually led to a much more effective relationship for you two to co-parent? _____

Please share about your practice of family meetings. What would trigger a date for a family meeting? And how did your children feel about family meetings?

How did you handle complaints about their birth mother?

When did you decide on adding another child...and "ours?" _____

Were there any problems with jealousy or competition with your first two children? _____

What else did they share that you appreciate? _____
